Attention: Mr. Gary Botting

Dear Sirs:

RE: Henry Rosenau v. Kip Whelpley
BC Supreme Court Quesnel Registry Action # 14781

1. I am retained by Kip Whelpley. I understand that Gary Botting is counsel for Mr. Rosenau with respect to extradition proceedings to the US. I understand that Padraig Mac Roibeard purports to be an agent for Mr. Rosenau with respect to civil proceedings.
2. Enclosed for Mr. Botting are copies of e-mails between Mr. Roibeard and Mr. Whelpley as follows:
  - a. January 8, 2011 from Mr. Roibeard to Mr. Whelpley;
  - b. January 9, 2011 from Mr. Roibeard to Mr. Whelpley;
  - c. January 18, 2011 from Mr. Whelpley to Mr. Roibeard and from Mr. Roibeard to Mr. Whelpley;
  - d. February 7, 2011 from Mr. Roibeard to Mr. Whelpley.

3. I also enclose a copy of the Notice of Civil Claim filed in the Quesnel registry January 31, 2011. This document was drafted by Mr. Roibeard. In my respectful view Mr. Roibeard may be practising law without a licence. That however is entirely incidental.

Mr. Gary Botting
Padraig Mac Roibeard

4. In his e-mail January 8 Mr. Roibeard makes it clear that if Mr. Whelpley does not confer with Mr. Botting and provide appropriate information to Mr. Botting that a civil claim will ensue. In this e-mail Mr. Roibeard accuses Mr. Whelpley of giving false testimony.

5. By his January 18 e-mail Mr. Roibeard makes a clear threat of harm or danger to Mr. Whelpley. Mr. Roibeard also allies himself with Mr. Botting in his dealings with Mr. Whelpley.

6. In his e-mail February 7 Mr. Roibeard offers to compromise the civil action by, inter alia, having Mr. Whelpley agree to recant evidence previously given.

7. The Notice of Civil Claim by itself is extortionary and an abuse of the court process.

8. The emails contain veiled but clear threats of harm to Mr. Whelpley and his family.

9. Taken as a whole the e-mails and the Notice of Civil Claim amount to an attempt to intimidate and to extort conduct from Mr. Whelpley. They are scandalous and vexatious within the meaning of Rule 9-5 of the Supreme Court Civil Rules. They probably amount to an abuse of the process of the court. They are also defamatory.

10. Would Mr. Botting please indicate by return fax that he will file a Notice of Discontinuance forthwith in the Quesnel registry and provide a copy to me.

11. In the alternative please do not take any default proceedings against Mr. Whelpley but provide me adequate written notice so that the appropriate Response and application under Rule 9-5 may be made.

12. If a court application is required we put you on notice that a copy of this letter will be filed and an order for special costs sought.

Yours very truly,

ROBERT M. MOFFAT

Subject: Whelpley ats Rosenau - Discontinuance

Mr. Kip Whelpley 1. By fax February 17 Mr. Botting refuses to get involved in the civil action. I enclose a copy. Enclosed is my further letter to Mr. Botting and Mr. Mac Roibeard detailing a Notice of Discontinuance for February 25.

2. If the action is not discontinued it is my advice that a court application should be made immediately to have the action dismissed. I can prepare the paper work, The cost of sending me to Quesnel is significant. Mr. Whelpley can attend at court in Quesnel on his own and speak to the matter.

3. The cost of paperwork will be $1,500.

4. Can you let me know what you would like to do?

Yours very truly

Robert M. Moffat

Robert M. Moffat, Barrister and Solicitor
2912 29th Street
Vernon B.C. V1T 5A6

Dear Sir:

Re Henry Rosenau v. Kip Whelpley, B.C. Supreme Court Quesnel Registry #14781

Thank you for your letter of 18 February 2011. I repeat, I am counsel to Mr. Rosenau strictly with respect to the appeal of his committal for extradition to the Supreme Court of Canada. I said I have no instructions from Mr. Rosenau to file a Notice of Discontinuance on his behalf with respect to any civil action. This can in no way be construed as a "refusal to seek instructions."

My letter of the 17th was a response to your earlier letter to which you attached copies of several emails from Mr. MacRoibearird. The emails between Mr. MacRoibearird and your client were, as far as I know, entirely authored by themselves and I take no responsibility for their content, despite Mr. MacRoibearird having on occasion used my name – which led you to contact me in the first place. I thank you for your concern.

Mr. MacRoibearird's conjecture as to what might help my client, as reflected in his emails, appears to be based on his familiarity with my application for leave to appeal to the Supreme Court of Canada. He is in no way acting within my purview; I have given neither him nor Mr. Rosenau any advice in this area whatsoever. My response to you, provided out of courtesy, was strictly with respect to Mr. MacRoibearird's use of my name in the emails. It seems to me that he has asked the same questions that I asked in the notice of appeal.

I do not "accept" that Mr. MacRoibearird is "conducting civil proceedings". I have no knowledge of the nature of his role. In fact, I have yet to see the statement of claim filed by or on behalf of my client. Since I have had nothing to do with the civil proceeding, it follows that I have no "obligation" to obtain instructions from my client to discontinue it. I give advice; he gives instructions. I shall of course follow his instructions. However, I am not in a position to give advice one way or the other, since I have yet to read, let alone study, the statement of claim that you regard as so objectionable.

To date, I represent Mr. Rosenau strictly for his appeal of committal for extradition. I shall, however, convey your concerns and copies of our correspondence to Mr. Rosenau. He is able to determine his own course of action with respect to the civil proceeding – and give instructions.

Sincerely,

Gary Botting, Barrister

Attention: Mr. Gary Botting

Dear Sirs:

RE: Henry Rosenau v. Kip Whelpley
BC Supreme Court Quesnel Registry Action # 14781

1. By letter February 15 I asked Mr. Gary Botting to seek instructions to file a Notice of Discontinuance in this matter. By e-mail February 19 Mr. Botting says that he does not act for Mr. Rosenau but will convey my concerns to Mr. Rosenau.
2. By this letter I am asking that Mr. Mac Roibeard reply to my e-mail of February 15, 2011 and confirm that Mr. Mac Roibeard will file a Notice of Discontinuance forthwith in the civil action and will deliver a filed copy to me.
3. If I have not received a filed Notice of Discontinuance by the close of business on February 25, 2011 I will seek instructions to make a court application to have the action dismissed and to claim special costs not only against Mr. Rosenau but against Mr. Mac Roibeard.
4. I will be filing copies of my correspondence with Mr. Mac Roibeard in an Affidavit as part of the court application.

Yours very truly,

Subject: Rosenau v. Whelpley

Kip,

I am in receipt of a letter addressed to Mr. Botting and copied to me from a person named Robert Moffat. In the letter, Mr. Moffat purports to be your lawyer and I do find that there is a lawyer in Vernon named Robert Moffat. Mr. Moffat does not say that he is instructed to receive service on your behalf and Mr. Rosenau has attended at the Supreme Court registry in Quesnel, where the action between you and he is filed and he has been told that there is no letter on file in the registry from either you or Mr. Moffat confirming that he is your counsel.

Neither you or Mr. Moffat filed a Notice of Response to Civil Claim within the time allowed. Accordingly, I am serving you with a copy of the default judgment approved by a Supreme Court justice in Quesnel on Monday, March 7th, 2011. As you can see, it provides general, punitive, and specific damages to be assessed, as well as an order that you be prohibited from leaving Canada for the purpose of going to the United States. If you weren't intending to go to the United States before, you now have a Supreme Court order prohibiting you from doing so in any case.

The Rules of Court provide that Mr. Rosenau may now make an ex parte application to the court to have the various damages assessed and to approve the form of the Order prohibiting you from returning to the United States until further order of the Court, which I expect will not be until Mr. Rosenau and his counsel are satisfied that you no longer will be a part of the false prosecution of Mr. Rosenau. Ex parte means that there is no requirement that you be provided with a notice of the application, or an opportunity to attend. However, Mr. Rosenau and I both remain sympathetic to the situation you must have found yourself in, compounded by your illness, and there is not a lack of understanding in that regard. It is my intention that the application include an Order that you appear for examination before a court reporter to answer questions as to the degree and method of coercion used against you and how you came to describe events in 2004 that could not possibly have happened. This examination will be used to determine the quantum of punitive damages, and to perhaps take other measures to ensure that neither you, or Ms. Roe engage in alternative means to procure false testimony from you in regard to the summer of 2004.

In the event that, as I expect, that examination produces the sympathetic view of your circumstances and demonstrates regret for what has happened, then I expect that certainly this sad affair will not have unfortunate financial hardship imposed upon you in addition to the other problems you have encountered. You will, of course, be prohibited from going to the United States for any reason, however, as you are probably aware, in normal circumstances you would not be allowed entry to the US at any rate.

What has happened to you, and what has happened to Mr. Rosenau, is of great political importance in this country in the light of how it demonstrates the ends to which the US will go to secure, or blatantly manufacture, false statements in extradition proceedings, and how Canadian courts and the Canadian minister of justice simply rubber stamp every extradition request. If you have an interest in speaking to the media on your treatment, Bob Keating, one of CBC's best radio and investigative reporters, would be very interested in hearing from you when this civil matter is concluded. With your permission, I will pass along your contact details to him, or I can provide you with his contacts.

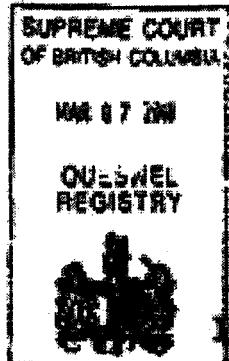

I have taken exception to the tone of the person who either was Mr. Moffat, or was pretending to be Mr. Moffat (the stationary was just made up in a computer), and I am taking other steps as a result of his letter, or letters, I believe it was. I do not propose to engage him again on this matter and if I am forced to, I will take that as a demonstration of lack of remorse on your part and will not make inquiries as to the extenuating circumstances that might be relevant to the awards of damages. If you choose another counsel, I would be happy to hear what he or she has to say.

On a personal level, I have had a look at your Facebook page and the profile picture you currently have up. I have to say it gives me great cause for concern for how it portrays a grim world, a desperate sense of hopelessness, and the terrible resolution of that hopelessness. I hope you step back from that hopelessness and realize that it is hope and love that really exist where you now see that terrible picture. You are, from what I have heard, an intelligent person. You have many friends. I understand you have children of your own who undoubtedly love you. Do not despair over this civil matter. It is a natural resolution with an objective of an honest and just end.

When I was in my late teens, I fell into a bad situation that seemed hopeless. I received a letter from my father, who was far away. In it he said, "Remember, Pat, the greatest champions are those who come up off the canvas to win".

I hope to see that terrible picture gone by tomorrow.

Padraig
